THE PROBLEM

Most Corporate Entertainment Fails Because:

- Energy drops after dinner or long sessions.
- Guests sit and watch rather than participate.
- Networking feels forced.
- Entertainment is forgotten by the next morning.
- The event lacks a shared “WOW” moment.

WHAT CLIENTS SAY

Since Mid 2024, 125+ Five-Star Reviews...

I saw Rick in action recently and he does a fabulous job engaging with the audience, both while on stage and when just mingling one to one before. I don't know how he does it and I think that is part of the appeal. It's good, clean entertainment and is certainly worth considering by someone looking to host an event.

Rick was so entertaining and his tricks were shockingly good. Kept our group of 16 executives locked in and fully entertained for the entire performance. Rick was also highly professional and very easy to communicate with. He responded quickly and was very flexible with our timing. Highly recommend!!

Chief of Staff
